One day some years from now, one might pull this yearbook down from a shelf to look at it, to once again relive a unique year, or perhaps to try and recapture from the depths of memory the names that belong to the half-remembered faces of classmates and teachers. When this happens, as it probably will, the windmills that we all battled during our three years at Walpole High will seem very small and very far away, and infinitely less important than they now seem — more like harmless ghosts than fierce giants.

Some people believe that through fate the course of a life is certain, determined and unwavering; some believe that with persistence and devotion the course of a life may be shaped gradually, unfolding like the wings of a butterfly emerging from a silken chrysalis. The class of '79 is a group that posseses this magical quality, the ability to grow strong in spite of adversity and to hold on to the things most desired until finally being able to take wing.

The years spent in high school may be compared to a journey — a long straight road for a lucky few — a trek through an unknown jungle fraught with mysteries and challenges for most of us. It takes a certain sort of determination to set out upon the journey and an even greater courage to follow it through, but no matter how confused the path may become, there is a thread of light to guide us out in the end — the light of the hopes and dreams that we call our own. Each of our dreams will lead us along our own seperate ways, but if we follow them faithfully, our dreams will also lead us to the other side of that jungle in spite of obstacles set in our way. No one ever told us that we owed it to ourselves to try.

With the arrival of renovation time and many changes in the near future for Walpole High School, the administration has had to keep right on its toes this year.

There were many extra tasks to be performed by the administration throughout the year. Among these were preparing for and taking care of the accreditation committee, making plans for the beginning of renovations, changing rooms to accomodate those being put out of rooms and much more.

Guidance

Trying to find open job markets, acceptable Colleges, universities, and commercial and trade schools, were the usual challenges for the Guidance Department, not to mention the myriad problems developing out of schedule conflicts and student/teacher conflicts that demanded something of a shoulder to cry on. As usual, Guidance came through with flying colors and most students were helped to aim their sights at goals compatible with their aptitudes.

English

Several new things have developed this year in Walpole High's English Department. New classes include Advanced Placement for seniors, taught by Mrs. Hinds and Mr. Hubbard, in which critical discussion of various classics will be stressed. Also newly instituted are the SAT Review, a course aimed at helping juniors to improve their SAT scores, and a course in Dramatic Literature.

Mr. Fredricksen, taking the place of Mr. MacDonald, has brought to the English Department knowledge in the fields of theater and speech, and Mrs. Springer has begun the Intergenerational Club, in which Walpole High Students learn, through poetry and discussion, to relate to residents of Charwell House in Norwood.

The Math Department was very busy this year. The main concern was the purchase of new microcomputers which will be available for classes next year.

The state minimum competency exam was given this year to all the students in grades 7 through 12. The purpose of the exam is so that teachers may know how much math a student has learned in those 5 years.

Next year the math department will offer a new course entitled Personal Math which will be college prepratory and will help students in bank check balancing and other math-related tasks in their future lives.

The Science department made it again, avoiding disasters and catastrophes, to make this year one of it's best ever.

The emphasis of the science department this year was to introduce students to the basics of science through experiments, then to go into more depth with other material in the class.

The renovations will have a great effect on the science wing of the school. Two new labs will replace the old one, which is overcrowded and inadequately equipped. A new biology lab will be installed, and a new and larger prep-room will be the greatest addition for ease in the pre-lab preps. If all goes well, the government will approve a grant that will allow the school to install a new computer terminal to the science department.

foreign language

The Foreign Language Department, headed by "head-honcho" Mr. Peter Paglari, had to be one of the busiest departments in the school. Between raising money for their trip to Spain, and raising money for a scholarship given in the name of a former principal, Ernest S. Camelio, the Foreign Language Department has also found time to set up a field trip to see a play spoken in Spanish. Included in the money raising efforts was bingo, a bazaar, a raffle, and an International Night, where foods from different countries were made and sold. The department did everything but hold a bullfight, which is not to say it wasn't considered.

On guard!

It was a year of diversified offerings for students in the physical education program this year. Courses offered ranged from first aid to outdoor education. Other courses offered were fencing, gymnastics, archery, weightlifting, volleyball, basketball, floorhockey, and many others.

One of the more hazardous activities was the outdoor education program where students were given the opportunity to test and improve their abilities of survival. They also conquered any fears they may have had about heights, crossing a river on a rope, or participating with others in a team activity.

Hopefully, the renovations being done on the High School will include fixing the warped floors and leaky ceiling in the far corner of the new gym. How all these renovations will affect the overall physical education program has yet to be seen.

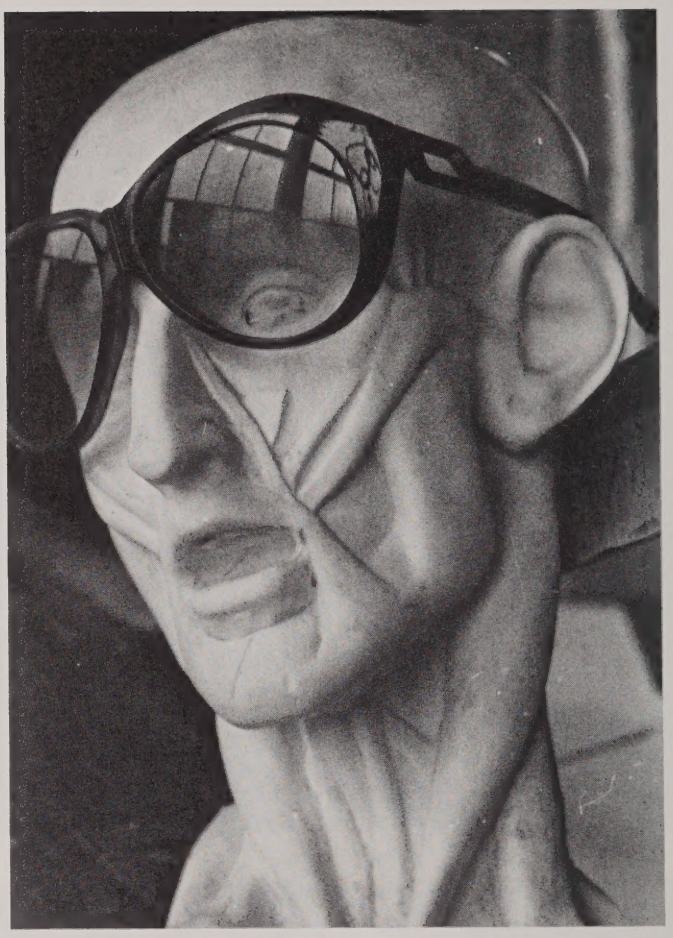
art



Once again Walpole High had an award-winning year in the art department. Five students won Boston Scholastic Art Awards, and five won BSA gold keys. Award winners were Paul Mock, Sebina Rockett, Sheryl Smith, Debbie Najarian, and Richard Dugdale. Key winners were Felicia Howard, Anna Crpentiero (winner of three keys), Julie Comeau, Beth Holman, and Robyn Marchetti

During the year the Art Institute of Boston and the Swain School of Design spoke to Art Major Classes. Mr. Alfred Lazzeri department chairman, said that a "good percentage of students plan to major or minor in art in college." Mr. Lazzeri also commented on what "great artists WHS kids are. They're really terrific."

music

The Walpole High School Music Department, chaired by Mr. Thomas Mills, has once again enjoyed a full year, beginning in the fall with band camp, Schaefer Stadium concession, marching band competitions, and of course performing pre-game and halftime shows at the Rebel football games and the Division I Superbowl.

Winter found members of the music department preparing for The Winter Concert, jazzband competitions, and busily raising funds for a concert tour of Maine in May.

The jazz ensemble performed the annual Springthing dance and also an hour of dancing at Pops Nite VIII, where concert band and chorus also performed.

Other ensembles performing throughout the music year were ragtime band, strings, and combined strings and wind instrument pieces, directed by Mr. Michael Falker, Brass Choir, which performed at the winter concert, conducted by Mr. Gaston Malloy, and Madrigal singers which were directed by Mr. Mills.

The highlight of the music year was the concert tour to Maine in May. The band and chorus visited Old Orchard Beach and the University of Maine at Orno, playing at different stops along the way.

Other end-of-year music activities included the traditional concert and playing of "Pomp and Circumstance" at Graduation and Memorial day and Village Fair Parades.

All in all, it was an extremely full and enjoyable year in the music department.

Full speed ahead

Walpole High School's Business Department has been very active this year in trying to show students what their department can do for them.

Many students are enrolled in business courses because they have plans to make a career for themselves in the business field. The thing that most students don't realize is that if they really don't know what road they're going on after high school, taking a business course is a wise decision.

It's a known fact that if you know how to type or how to balance books you have a very good chance on being able to start your career in a position using these talents.

The success of this year's D.E.C.A. classes has been most rewarding to the income of the class. Compared to last year, D.E.C.A. had a 30% increase in its income, an approximate 142% increase in students, and a few new additions in stock.

Eight to ten students participated in running the store this year and sold many of the following items: jackets, posters, belt buckles, SAT prep. books, stationery, and basic utilities. Mr. Conaty has considered adding want ads and greeting cards to the stock for next year.

The problem is with placement of the store during and after renovations to the school. It is possible that the classroom itself may remain the same and a separate school store will be built in the old gym area. No matter where the location, business will always continue at D.E.C.A.

Mr. William Casbarra, department head of Industrial Arts, updated the program and equipment to offer students greater opportunities to develop a variety of skill.

From coffee tables to guitars, students in shop built their way through class. Some production classes made picnic tables and hockey sticks.

Power mechanics students tuned-up engines 'til they purred like kittens. They also studied other parts of cars' engines and explored energy alternatives.

Thanks to two federal grants the department was able to purchase equipment in graphics and metals.

Mr. Casabarra felt students were able to explore their potential in technical areas and hoped more students would take advantage of the courses offered.

home economics

Gloria White, Department Chairman

The Home Economics department has been refined into a course specifically designed to help young adults in their later assault on life. With a repertoire consisting of cooking, sewing, and classes dealing with parenthood and the needs of young adults living on their own, the department covers every aspect of later life. A small department such as the Home Economics one is certainly a progressive and expanding factor in the educational system at Walpole High School. Under the guidance and administration of Mrs. White, the capabilities of an already established department seem endless. With a male teacher relating to the boys, Mr. Pruitt stimulates discussion in Family Living. Ms. Falk also relates well to her students and teaches many skills to be used in later life.

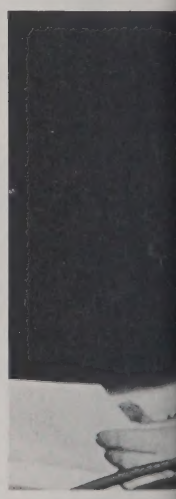
Mrs. Sjolund, coordinator

It's been a long day, make it quick!



Another mistake!

The Coop Office Experience is a cooperative program between businesses in and around the Walpole area and the Business Department at Walpole High. Mrs. Judith Sjolund, coordinator of the program, determines which students are eligible and where they will work. The qualifications for this program are that a student must be able to type about 40-45 words per minute without errors.

There are about 40 students presently working in company offices such as Raytheon, Bird Machine, Bay Bank and many others in the Walpole area. This program allows students to be dismissed from school after fifth period to attend their jobs. They receive five credits toward their graduation.

This program is a great opportunity for students who are planning to go into business for a career to receive firsthand office experience.

Oh, you shouldn't have!

What?

Drivers Education

The Drivers Education program has remained basically the same this year. Mr. Ed Rock taught the course at Walpole High School for the sixth year.

Mr. Rock said more sophomores took the course than juniors did, especially in the second semester. The required age for the course remained at 15 years and nine months.

The classes also went outside to work on cars. Students were taught how to change tires, start a car with jumper cables, and to check and change oil.

Computer Programming:

Mr. Foley taught computer programming for his 18th year at Walpole High. The program exposed data processing to the students so they could decide if they would want to continue programming.

Work in the IBM room included the attendance system, the secondary schools' report cards and scheduling for the junior and senior highs. To help out Mrs. Reilly worked full time in the IBM room.

Mr. Rock takes a break from Driver's Ed.

Mr. Munoz Bennet, Metco coordinator, said this year's program had not been significantly different from other years. There were 42 students in the Walpole program, with 19 elementary students; 11 East Junior High students and 12 at Walpole High.

Mr. Munoz Bennet said the year had been a success in teacher attitudes as well as student participation in games, academic programs and sharing of culture.

The problems of the present were more psychological than physical. There was no transportation problem, but a problem for the future would be the numerical level at which the program is to be maintained.

"The focus of the program is gradually changing. The implicit acceptance of the guidelines of the program will tend to stimulate its impact on the high school and other schools. Changes are made slowly so the visibility of any significant change remains veiled for a time," said Mr. Bennet.

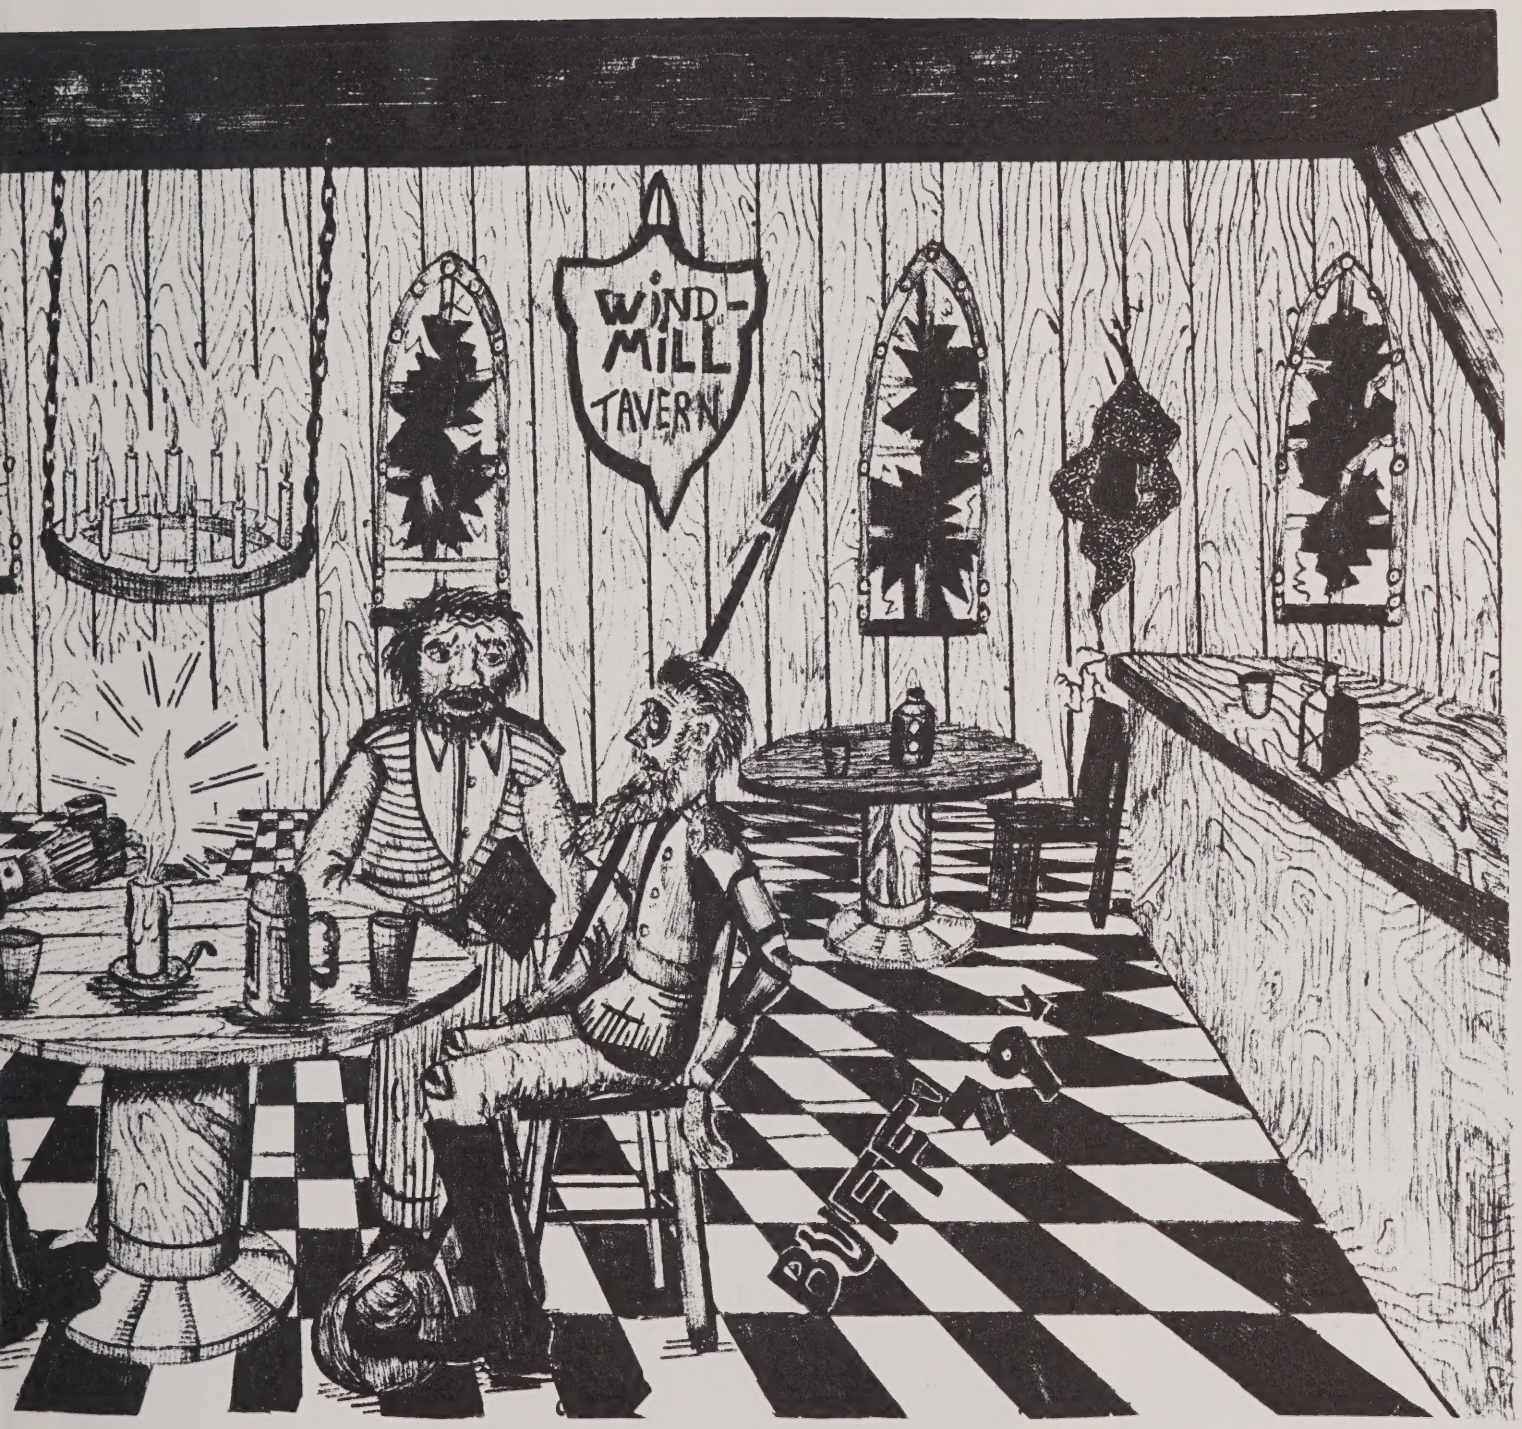
Organizations



class officers

The class officers at Walpole High School had a very full year. Sophomore officers worked to collect sophomore dues. Sophomores also voted on a dues policy.

Officers of the junior class were kept busy organizing funds for the prom and also planning the entire evening. Juniors sponsored the annual carnation day, Pickwick Road Race pledges, and sold tickets to the annual Rotary Club pancake breakfast. The junior class also voted to change the existing dues policy.

The senior class officers sponsored the senior class play, and were also busy collecting dues so that all seniors could go on the class trip and participate in the graduation exercises. All in all, it was a busy and prosperous year for the class officers.

student government

Student Government

Ordinarily the Student Council and the student Advisory Council work apart from each other, but together they waged a pitched battle against final exams.

The Student Council sailed through a very successful year. At the helm were president — Alan Moloney, vice president — Joe Hand, secretary — Beth McCarthy, treasure — Janet Hall and clerk — Gerald Lane. Filling the ranks was the rest of the crew; G. Schmalz, J. Connor, P. Hooley, B. Bangerskis, D. Goyette, S. Hall, K. Higgins, C. Cercone, J. Collins, J. Crehan, G. Gravina, L. Neilsen, N. Powers and M. Turco.

Logged into the Student Council's records are the Autumn Queen Dance, Student Exchange Program, Blood Mobile, hosting Student Council members from Norwood.

Intergen

This year's Intergeneration Group has been a learning experience to both young and old alike.

In case you don't know what the Intergenerational group is about, here is a brief description. The goal of the group is to take the elderly and the young and try to close the age gap. This year's class has done fine work with the elderly people of Charwell House in Norwood.

There have been activities in which the students have gone to Charwell House and the residents have come to Walpole High School to participate in activities in which the students and elderly spend some time together.

Some of these activities have included parties, games and audio-visual presentations.

Intergeneration has been a wonderful experience in the past, and hopefully it will be even better in the future.

publications

"Walpole High School Publications" was the new name given to the growing products published by Mr. Schnorbus' journalism classes. Growth was the key word.

First, there was the growing size and circulation of the "Rebellion," the school's newspaper. Two hundred copies were mailed out to subscribers, including twenty-five to Charwell House in Norwood.

Second, there was the prize-winning yearbook, The Rebel, which increased its cost from $10.00 to $12.00 to keep pace with growing inflationary costs.

Third, there was the reappearance of the nearly forgotten creative writing magazine, The Labyrinth, with Lori Baker as editor. The single issue appeared in the spring.

Finally, the staff branched outside of the school to paste up a monthly page in "The Walpole Times" called "The Rebel Review."

Once again this year, the Christmas Bazaar helped to defray the cost of the trip. The event was held in the cafeteria and such items as cookies, cakes, toys, and handmade crafts, as well as a raffle, were featured.

Latin club ends year with toga party

by Mrs. Penny Calf

The 10th annual Roman Banquet was held by the Latin students at Walpole High School on Thursday, May 17.

Dressed authentically in togas and tunics, the 1st and 2nd year students participated in games and feasting reminiscent of the ancient Romans. This year's banquet was one of the most successful ever due to the enthusiasm and ingenuity of these Latin scholars.

At six o'clock, the slaves of Latin I, wearing guarantees around their necks and dragging a 30-foot long paper chain, were marched in and auctioned off by auctioneers Kathy Hall and Susan Johnson. The bidding was furious but in the end the 2nd year Latin nobles all succeeded in obtaining at least one servus to serve them throughout the evening.

The Olympic games were held next. Lisa D'Amadio and Louis Parent sprinted to victory in the girls' and boys' 100 yard dashes. The 440 yard class vs. class relay was won by the Latin II honors team of Sheila Ryan, Jim Cobb, Lisa D'Amadio, and David Vietze.

The slave race provided a brief change of pace as the slaves raced on hands and knees, similis canibus. Dana Stearns, urged on by his master Diana Masse who had paid a fortune to obtain him, made her investment a worthwhile one as he won the race by a nose in a disputed decision over Gene Schnell.

The highlight of the Olympics is always the chariot race and this year was no exception. There were three chariots — one built by Kevin McCarthy and Sheila Ryan, another engineered by Jim Totten, and the third constructed by Kim Wild. In an exciting 100 yard race, the Latin II honors chariot won, drawn by Kevin McCarthy and Jim Neilsen and charioteered by Lisa Parente.

After the chariot race, the activities moved inside. Jim Neilsen made the sacrifice to Vesta and then the feasting began. During dinner, the slaves entertained their masters by singing songs, reciting poems, and fulfilling the obligations of their guarantees.

The best costumes of the evening were also selected at this time: Kathy Hall and Maura Scardocci tying for the best noble attire, and Kim Wild being the best dressed slave.

Following dinner, a Roman version of "To Tell the Truth" elicited both laughter and moans as the Latin II Honors contestants tried to cleverly answer the panelists' questions. The panelists were: Latin II — Carl Balduf and Teri Hyland; Latin I — Dana Stearns and Jim Totten. The contestants were Romulus and Remus (i.e. Kathy Hall and Susan Johnson, Tom Dumphy and Jim Neilsen, Debbie and Kevin McCarthy); and Cleopatra (i.e. Julie DiPillo, Pam Hooley, and Sheila Ryan). The Master of Ceremonies for the evening was Rome's lame, stuttering, twitching emperor Claudius — ably portrayed by Jim Cobb.

The W.H.S. cheerleaders had an enjoyable and profitable year of activity. In August most of the cheerleaders attended the Nationwide Cheerleader Camp at Amherst College, where they learned a multitude of skills. These skills were well used as the cheerleaders, in the Baystate Competition, placed 2nd, carrying on the tradition to three years. The cheerleaders also had the opportunity to attend the Superbowl VII at Harvard Statium for which they each received a sweater at the Superbowl banquet held March 20.

The name of the game is defense, and, obviously the Rebels play it well. Holding opponents scoreless on several occasions, Walpole ripped off ten hard-fought victories for sole posession of the Bay State League title. The offense matched the defense with some awesome bursts against Framingham South and Wellesley, along with some nail-biters against Needham and Natick.

But the Rebels did something in Walpole football history that nobody has ever done; being undefeated and untied. Nobody quite figured out how the Rebels did it. With coaching changes and injuries, only the mighty pride of the Rebels kept the team from falling.

The turning point from great to greater was a spectacular win over the Natick Redmen in Natick. John Bergamo faked the pitch out and scrambled 44 yards for a touchdown, which gave the Rebels a 14-6 victory. They did this without warhorse fullback Chris Warman.

When the Rebels did their talking on the field, they were rated number one. Offensive co-ordinator Kevin Fleming, defensive co-ordinator Paul Tuccelli, linemen coach Barry Greener, and trainer Larry Newman were the men who put steel in the backbone to coach John Lee's outstanding season.

Finally, the moment of truth came when the Rebels squared off against the Medford Mustangs at Harvard stadium for the Division one Superbowl Championship in Massachusetts. All eyes were on Walpole to see if they could repeat their win in 1976. With Medford leading 8-0 near the end of the half, Bergamo threw for the sidelines, and a slick Medford defender picked off Walpole's chances, going all the way for a touchdown.

So thus ended the chances for a flawless season. But, it was not a season to forget, for it will carry the memories of the first perfect season in Walpole's history.

The girls won their first game after receiving a bye in the first round, against Barnstable with an overtime score of 2-1. Beth Crehan scored early in the first half to match Barnstable's earlier goal; the remainder of the game went scoreless. With the game ending 1-1 the girls were forced into a sudden-death overtime period. One-and-a-half minutes into the period Diane O'Brien put it into the corner of the net for the winning goal.

With their victory over Barnstable the girls now had to face Aponequet. After a tiring ride the girls started off slow and it wasn't until 14 minutes into the game that Lisa D'Amadio scored the winning goal. Cheryl Whittier iced the cake with another in the second half to bring the final score to 2-0.

Once again, traveling down to the Cape, the girls now faced undefeated Harwich. Early in the first half Harwich was to score their solitary, winning goal. Walpole controlled the ball within Harwich's 25 yard line for an unbelievable 15 minutes of the second half. This loss knocked Walpole out of the tournament but left them with a fantastic 15-1-1 record!

For the first time ever in the Bay State Leauge there were four All-Stars chosen from one team; Walpole's Maureen Betro, Beth Crehan, Christine Simpson and Diane O'Brien. Maureen, Beth and Christine were also chosen as Patriot Ledger All Stars while Beth Crehan, who also set a new scoring record with 17 points, was elected for Globe Allscholastic.

Throughout the entire season the Walpole defense allowed only five goals and had nine shutouts, while the offense was scoring over three goals per game. Obviously, this has been the best season Coach Susan Brainard has seen.

SOCCER

The Walpole High soccer team faced a disappointing season this year, a problem mainly due to the small number of returning players and the large number of less experienced juniors. Throughout the whole season, however, the team put forth their best efforts.

The team this year was led by co-captains Mark Bushway and Scott Manty, who also recieved an honorable mention from the Bay State League All Star Soccer Team.

Who said history doesn't repeat itself? This year's cross country team finished the season with a carbon-copy record of the 1977 squad, but although finishing the season at a disappointing 1-8, there were some bright spots and coach Bill Casbarra is looking ahead to next year.

With returning seniors Dave Lavanchy, John Cento, and Dave Chambers, the team did not lack experience; however, a tough Bay State League proved too much for the Rebels.

The conference meet was held at Turco Memorial Field this year with sophomore Alex Vetrox finishing among the top 25 runners from 10 different Bay State League schools.

To watch the Rebels from a spectator's point of view, this season was full of thrills and excitement, as they went into four overtimes. However, to look at the season from their record alone, the season would appear less than exciting, as the Rebels finished 5 and 13. In overtime, they won two of their four, fighting and scrapping the whole way behind All-Stars Jack Kelly and Don Crummet. Exciting, yes, but as a whole the Walpole Basketball Team got stuffed.

The Rebels were knocked out when they were defeated in their second tournament game, against Westwood, the state champs. The score was 80-71.

Walpole won their first tournament game against Cardinal Spellman, 57-27.

Gymnastics

The Walpole High School gymnastic team started out with a very success-year, where they won their first two meets with Holliston and Natick. The m's scores remained fairly stable throughout the season with a range ween 65.30 points to 84.95 points. The former score of 65.30 points to 95 was not a final score, since there was a bomb scare, with the uneven allel bars event left. The final meet against Norwood was a thriller, where lpole scored their highest points of the season.

The gymnast had a tough but enjoyable season and ended it with the mnaestrada and a banquet at the Golden Steer Restaurant.

The most valuable gymnast on the team was Marianne Swift, winning it ee consecutive years. Most improved gymnast went to Nancy McGrath, y a sophomore with two more years for better improvement! Also, the ski club

The Ski Team was buried by the lack of snow this winter. Cross country skiers could not get anything together. The downhill members did get together and went to Blue Hills on Wednesdays when there was man-made snow. Unfortunately, there was not enough snow to have any meets.

A new policy for the Ski Team was instituted because there was not a cross-country ski coach, and the majority of members agreed to change the team to a club. Mr. Mitchell was adviser for the club, which did not have mandatory practices and would have raced in a different league. The ski team has been in existence for over 10 years but there is evidence that it is dying.

hockey

The rebuilding Rebels got off to a slow start this year by losing to Braintree eight to three and having a mid-season record of three wins, four losses, and two ties. The Rebels picked up two more wins in the second half of the season plus a very important tie to Norwood in mid-January, to end their season at 5-10-3.

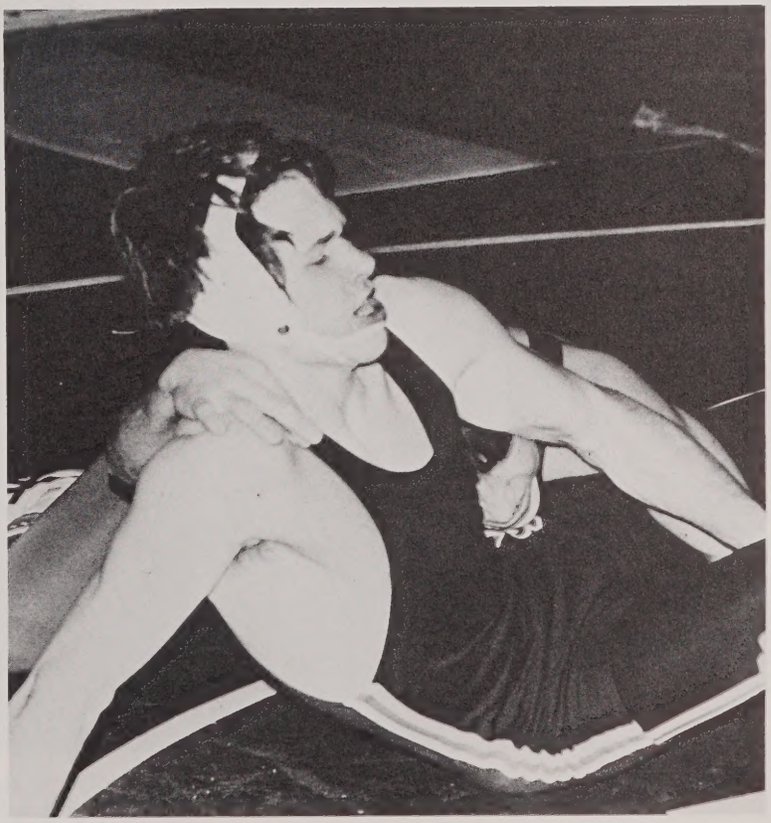
wrestling

Although the wrestlers ended their season with a poor record, there were some fine individual statistics. Three Rebels placed in the sectional tournament and one placed in the state tournament. Doug Cameron, John Cento, and Peter MacDonald all placed in the Division II Sectional Tournament held in Norwell. Cameron and MacDonald emerged as champions of their weight classes and Cento took a fourth. Cameron and MacDonald went on to the State Tournament seeded first and third respectively; but Cameron in a tough weight class was beaten in the quarter finals. MacDonald took a second place finish after winning 18 consecutive matches. Even though the Rebels had these strong wrestlers along with teammates Dick Dugdale and Mark DuBuque, who also had fine seasons, the Rebels ended the season with a record of 4-9.



BASEBALL

Head Coach Bill Tompkins called this year's Bay State League competition the toughest in the state, and all other coaches agreed.

Finishing out a dreadful first half of the season (3-9, 1-9 in the league), the Rebels kept many a game tight going into the last innings but were unable to pull off a win.

Pitching was a problem, as the hurlers had trouble keeping the scores in single figures. When the pitching finally came through (John Slauzis's performance in Wellesley, 6k's, 2 walks) the bats didn't.

The local 9 beat Needham 14-13 in 13 thrilling innings, then lost to Framingham South, 12-0, in a slugfest.

The Rebels, with leadoff men Eric Swansberg and Jay White, helped set the pace for the RBI men of Ken Wood, Don Hall, and Jim Barsomian. Steve Shaughnessy, inserted at shortstop after 4 or 5 games, worked with John Hoey to make a fine double-play duo.

Girls' Softball

Through days of difficult practices with a new pitching machine, the girls' softball team managed to get as close as one game away from entering the State Finals. With pitching sensation, Karen Bilski, the team did very well defensively. Offensively, the Rebels were outstanding, with many of the girls hitting well over 300. Sophomores Lori DiTomasso, Julie DiPillo, Nancy Hart, and Joanne Allen sparked the team with their surprising performances. Three of the Rebel seniors made the all-star team this year. They were Karen Bilski, pitcher; Kathy Hall, first base; and Pam Hooley, catcher. Coach Penny Calf is hoping for a promising season next year, as a large number of sophomores were comfortably set in varsity positions.

Despite young and inexperienced players and a terrible pre-season, the golf team rallied and started from scratch, bringing up people such as Mike Cole and Tom Dumphy who had never before played golf and then contributed greatly to the team. Boys Spring Track Seniors Joe Daly and Stan Gwinn led the track team to its best record since 1972.

Daly had 95 points and performed in the conference meet placing third in long jump and fifth in the triple jump.

Gwinn had 86½ points and also was in the conference meet placing fifth in the long jump.

Senior John Bergamo had an outstanding year in javelin. He not only placed first many times in dual meets, but also won the Bay State Conference Meet.

Juniors Mike Cuomo, Jim McKay, and Paul Grasso had good years in the shotput. Sophomores Jerry Taylor, Alex Vetrous, Chris Hoegler, and junior Gary Starta showed promise in their events for the upcoming season.

Coach Rock said, "In all it was a good year (3-6) despite lack of jumping mats and home meets."

I shouldn't have drunk that eggnog!

He said, "I'm cute, I'm cute."

Although the Girls' Track did not win any meets, they worked hard throughout the season and gave it all they had. Some of the bright spots in a rather dismal season were JoAnn Sullivan who accumulated 100 points total for this season alone, which is a record breaker, and Judy Hand, who made great improvement as she fought her own 880 timings throughout the season.

Three trophies were given at the banquet held at the end of the season for the following: Jo Ann Sullivan, most valuable player; Carol Dalgety, most dedicated; and Ellen Conlon, outstanding underclassman.

Walpole's soccer team employed some fierce "scare tactics" this season.

On Oct. 24, 1978, the annual Autumn Queen Dance was held in the school gymnasium. Voting took place the week before when 8 nominees were picked. Those nominees were: Pam Kehoe, Diane O'Brien, Maureen Betro, Mary Powers, Karen McElligott, Gretchen Schmalz, Geraldine Connors, and Anna Maenhout. The night of the dance the students

The play was a comedy based on a book by Leonard Webberty. The plot developed around the Dutchess Gloriana, played by Karen McElligot, soverign of a small country which announces its declaration of war on the United States, so that the U.S. would rebuild Grand Fenwick.

Other leading actors were Marty Parquette as Tully Bascom, John Cento as Esquire Benter, and Dave Lavanchy as Count Mountjoy.

Gong Show

The gong show got many mixed reviews but overall seemed to be a success.

On February 8th a motley group of 20 acts gathered in the High School Auditorium to show off their talents for a Grand Prize of $50.00.

With a panel of judges composed of Mr. Turco, Mr. Foley, Coach Lee, Ms. Balduf, and Ms. Martin tabulating their scores to the acts which Master of Ceremonies, Mr. Stoltz, brought out, they picked Lisa Russell, singing "How Deep It Goes," as the final winner.

Before the show the audience was treated to pizza and coke in the cafeteria and then lead up to the auditorium to listen to the sounds of Mystic Image. This was just the beginning to a very successful evening.

International night

On Thursday evening, April 5th, the Second International Night was held. The proceeds from the evening ($3,200) went to the Ernest Camelio Scholarship Fund, for a porspective language student.

An international flavor abounded with foods, drinks and artifacts from around the world. Pasta and pizza were "abbunadanza" even if Mamma Celeste couldn't make the event. Roman cookies and refreshments, dug up from the ruins of Pompei, were served at the Latin booth. Beer, sauerkraut and potato salad were some of the delicacies stacked at the German booth. Exclamations of "Bon appetite," were constant compliments emanating from the French pastry shoppe.

Alumni from the classes of '54 and '59 held a raffle while the Spaniards put together a batch of sangria and the "Rastro," a white elephant table. Handmade dolls and crafts were fast-moving items at the crafts table.

Mr. Peter Paglari, chairman of the Foreign Language Department, organized the very successful event.

The Prom was highlighted by the announcing of the Prom Queen Candidates: Cindy MacIntosh, Marilyn Wolski, Julie Comeau, Patricia Laurie and Nancy Barry. Patricia Laurie was chosen the 1973 Prom Queen, receiving a dozen roses with her court each receiving a half dozen. The evening ended with the playing of the theme song, "Always and Forever."

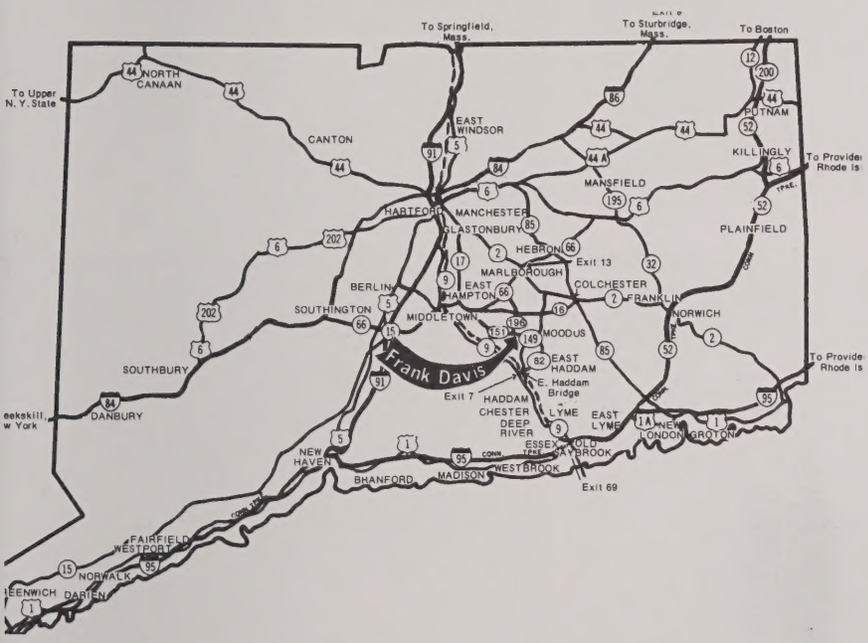
Senior Class Trip

Mass exodus to wonderland.



Five busloads of seniors left from Blackburn Memorial Hall on Thursday, May 31, to travel to Frank Davis's Resort in Moodus, Connecticut.

Eight other schools joined the happy crowd on that day: King Philip, Shrewsbury, and Doherty High Schools, from Mass, Ram Oxford, and Groton, from Connecticut, and Blackstone Valley Tech from Rhode Island.

The day consisted of many athletic competitions with Walpole at the top of the heap. Out of six softball games, Walpole won six. The line-up: pitcher, Bob Ross, catcher, George Ducharmand, Jon Warcup; 1st base, John Hoey, shortstop, Don Hall, short field, Mark Wolski, left field, Don Crummet, center field, Steve Fortin, and right field, Mike Grugnale.

Bill Shea, representing Walpole in the swim meet, swept 1st place in back stroke, breast stroke, free style, and relay. Helping out the relay team were Steve Cornetta, Alan Verrochi and Tony Verrochi.

The boys' basketball record broke even. Walpole defeated King Phillip, but lost to Shrewsbury. Craig Lesinski and Denise Pellisier won the dance contest for Walpole.

The canoe race was the only loss of the day, when Walpole's canoe team, consisting of Rick Brooks, Mary Powers, Geraldine Connors, Gary Moore, William Schmidt, Sue Upton and Mary Hoegler, came in second to Ram High School.

Mrs. Arlene Mills was also honored with a dozen carnations for her work in the music program this year.

Graduation

Three hundred twenty-five Walpole High School seniors received their diplomas in exercises held Sunday on Turco Field. The ceremony was held under cloudy skies and proceeded without a snag.

Valedictorian Teresa Hyland and salutatorian Pamela Hooley read a combination honor essay on the theme "Back to Basics - The Three R's" which touched on reality, rationality and responsibility as it will affect the Class of 1979.

Principal Thomas Reis presented more than 50 awards to graduates and diplomas were awarded by School Committee Chairman Garrett Dalton and Superintendent of Schools Robert Bassett.

According to Reis, all seniors were permitted to participate in the ceremony. Early last week he had said the possibility existed that some could be barred pending an investigation of graduation-related vandalism at the high school that resulted in damage of several thousand dollars.
